Claims 1-23 are canceled.

DETAILED ACTION

Claims 24-37 are under examination on the merits.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 24-37 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of double patenting over claims 1-9 of U. S. Patent No. 6,479,269 since the claims, if allowed, would improperly extend the "right to exclude" already granted in the patent.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the patent and is covered by the patent since the patent and the application are claiming common subject matter, as follows: the scope of current claims 24-37 embrace the scope of claims 1-9 of said U.S. patent.

Art Unit: 1652

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant was prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application during prosecution of the application which matured into a patent. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 25-26, 30-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yu et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,734,009 issued 5/11/04). Yu discloses a cDNA sequence (see its SEQ ID NO:3, in the attached sequence alignment) that comprises a DNA sequence having 92.3% identity to SEQ ID NO:1 of this invention that encodes a polypeptide having 93.8% identity to SEQ ID NO:2 of this invention prior to this application. Since said sequence identities are very close to 95% and by changing the sequence alignment parameters it is possible to align said sequences such that they display at least 2-3% higher sequence identities to SEQ ID NO:1 or that encoding SEQ ID NO:2 of this invention than those currently displayed, it is believed that Yu's sequences anticipate claims 25-26 of this application. In columns 12-14 Yu teaches about vectors and host cells comprising its DNA sequence and methods of expressing its DNA sequence anticipating claims 30-37 of this invention.

Claims 25-26, 30-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yue et al. (U.S. Application No. 20040023242). Yue discloses a DNA sequence (see its SEQ ID NO:7, in the attached sequence alignment) that comprises a DNA sequence having 99.7% identity to SEQ ID NO:1 of this invention that encodes a polypeptide having 99.5% identity to SEQ ID NO:2 of this invention prior to this application, anticipating claims 25-26. In columns 12-14, Yu teaches about vectors and host cells comprising its DNA sequence and methods of expressing its DNA sequence anticipating claims 30-37 of this invention. In page 31 Yue teaches about vectors and host cells comprising its DNA sequences, anticipating claims 32-33, and 35-37 of this invention. In page 36 it discloses methods of expressing said DNA sequences anticipating claim 34.

No claims are allowed.
